Big Four Rates Asked by the Switchmen, Who Tire of Waiting for an Answer.

Forty Men of the Night Force Quit Work and Cause Some Delay in Handling Freight -Day Men Will Join Them.

The rumor of a strike in the Panhandle yards that has been current for a day or two, was realized, last evening, at6 o'clock, when the night switchmen refused to go to | flashing jewels and waving plumes of the work, and the day men said they, too, would not return to duty this morning. The strike, so far, is confined to about forty men in all, and throws the switch | D Armory. Garden City Lodge, of Chicago, engineers and firemen into idleness until the matter is settled. The strikers were orderly and justified their action by asserting that the officials had been given sufficient time to consider their request for higher wages and shorter hours. They said the last day given Superintendent Darlington for an answer had expired a week ago. A meeting of the men, the few who quit first, was held last night, and a committee was appointed to wait on the superintendent this morning. The opinion was expressed that he would deal justly with them. They seemed to think he could not possibly ask them to work for more hours and less pay than the Big Four men doing the same work are getting. It is for the Big Four rate that the men are asking.

said one of the switchmen to a Journal reporter, "and for that we get $1.98. The Big Four men work ten hours for $2:30. The men in charge of a yard engine get $2:50 for twelve, while the Big Four men work only ten hours for the same money. We go to work at 6:30 o'clock in the morning and the Big Four men at 7 o'clock. We are allowed thirty-five minutes for dinner. while they are allowed an hour. We work just as hard as the Big Four yardmen, and ought to get the same pay."

"We are made to work twelve hours,"

After the meeting which appointed the committee the men walked through the yards to confer with any of their class of service who had not quit. They happened to congregate for a few moments at the junction of Michigan avenue and the railroad tracks, and the police were telephoned for to prevent trouble. Captain Campbell and a force of two sergeants and two patrolmen responded, but they were not needed. The men said they contemplated no violence, and were merely using persuasion to induce their fellow-workmen persuasion to induce their fellow-workmen to join them. They succeeded well in their purpose, as within an hour or two only one switchman was at work, and he joined the strikers after a brief talk with them.

There was not a single yardman at work last night, either on or off an engine. The trains, however, left on time by effort on the part of the yardmasters. The work, it is claimed by the strikers, will be piled up beyond the capacity of the road to manage it this morning, so that practically the stand-still being, so that practically the stand-still began at midnight. The men dispersed to their homes at that hour. Four or five successive explosions of railroad torpedoes, by the passing over them of the 9:30 train east, caused some excitement for a short time. They were evidently put on the tracks by some of the men who went out, but as they are perfectly harmless no evil intent could have been contemplated, and the train engineer paid no attention to them, but couple, with the news of a strike, the people of the neighborhood were frightened for a little while.
The Vandalia yardmen have also felt a disparity of wages with the Big Four men, and have asked for the rate of the latter.
The request was made a week ago The request was made a week ago, but no answer has as yet been received The employes, however, say they were received with consideration, and an-

to organized labor. Superintendent Darlington was seen by a reporter at the Denison last night. "We are not inclined to call this little trouble a strike," said he. "The men who quit belong to our night force and took snap judgment on us. I was called to Richmond this morning, and when the men came to see me at the office in the afternoon they were told that I would return at 6:57 o'clock. They didn't wait to see me but quit at 6 o'clock sharp. But with the assistance of our night yard officers we were able to get all of our freight out with a delay of only twenty-but as men in the same branch of work. Only about a third of the strikers belong

"Will the day men go out to-morrow?" "As to what they intend to do I cannot say. I suppose a few of them will quit, but I do not know positively. But if they do we will be able to handle our freight without much trouble."

"Will you give these men who have quit an opportunity to return if they so desire?"

"No, we certainly will not. They have quit our employ and will receive their pay in the morning. That is the end of the matter so far as they are concerned. We hope to have the trouble arranged in a short time. Our man have here short time. Our men have been led to do as they have done by the Big Four switchmen and by an inflammatory article that appeared in one of the evening papers here recently. Some of them have seen fit to quit, and we want it understood that their relations with us have ceased. We may be put to some inconvenience for a day or so, but, as I said before, our freight will all go out with but little delay."

COLLIDED WITH AN ICEBERG.

Thrilling Experience of the Passengers on the Nova Scotian Steamer Portia.

HALIFAX, Aug. 5 .- The captain of the steamer Portia, which arrived here yesterday from St. Johns, N. F., tells the following story of the steamer's narrow escape from destruction: On July 30, when near Fogo Head a huge iceberg was noticed dead ahead. The steamer sailed close alongside of it, and while passing the glittering mass a terrific report was heard which shook the ship, and the berg broke into three pieces, each piece going under the water with a roar and crash like thunder. The steamer slid and crash like thunder. The steamer slid up on the third piece, which tipped over, holding her for a while clear out of the water. For a time it looked to all on board as though sudden death was inevitable, but in a moment the sea, which had hitherto been as placid as a mill-pond, suddenly became a surging mass. This driving sea rushed down upon the Portia and lifted her off the fee into the water. On examining the ship ice into the water. On examining the ship, it was found that the stanchions in the saloon had been displaced and bent, and the under-girders of the dining-table smashed. Captain Ash was at his post on the bridge at the time of the accident. After the report, he saw a third of the ice being tipped over and slowly rise from the water. The engines were stopped, and almost immediately afterward the Portia was in clear water and out of danger.

Handsome Drill Work and Dress Parade by the Patriarchs Militant at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.-Cantons from all parts of the country continued to arrive to-day to take part in the triennial cantonment of the Patriarchs Militant, I. O. O. F., and the city was ablaze with the black, red, gold and purple trappings and the order. The forenoon was devoted to competitive exemplifications of the subordinate degree work, with closed doors, in Battery opened the competition, and was followed by Wicker Park Lodge, also of this city. This afternoon the prize drills of the cantons by classes, was begun on the Lake Front, in the presence of a multitude of people.

When the gates were first opened the crush amounted to a stampede. Officers of the regular army and the Illinois National Guard served as judges. The first canton that appeared on the field was Canton London. don, of London, Ont., which drilled the schedule and had several minutes of its allotted half hour to spare, and put in the time in fancy maneuvers, which will count in its favor. The dill was surprisingly fine. The Grand Canton of Ohio came next on the field, and was entered for a higher class, being an old prize-winner. The Ohio men were defective in the matter of dis-tance, but otherwise made a magnificent appearance. The Ohioans are from Columbus, O., and held high hopes of winning the capital prize of $1,500 offered for class A. In the same class Canton Occidental, of Chicago, drilled most admirably. After the drilling there was a dress parade that was witnessed by a great concourse of peo-ple seated in the enormous grand-stand. The weather was bright and cool, and the men made their best appearance.

Among to-day's arrivals were a troop of Hussars from Columbus, O., and another from Boston, and a troop of lancers from Denver, Col. The uniforms of these companies are dazzling. The Boston Hussars were the sensation of the evening when they appeared under the electric lights in their black and white garments, trimmed with black and gray Astrachan. Their shakos are made of Astrachan of these colors, and their coats and surtouts are trimmed with it.

To-night Gen. John C. Underwood, the generalissimo of the army, held a reception at the Auditorium Hotel, the parlors of which were crowded with the brilliantly uniformed chevaliers and their ladies.

SPORTS AND FRAUDS.

Both the League and Brotherhood Have Padded Their Attendance Returns. CHICAGO, Aug. 5 .- "The tactics of the Chicago Brotherhood base-ball managers have disgusted me more than ever with the business, and I now propose to expose them and show them up in their proper light to the public." It was A. G. Spalding, president of the Chicago National League Baseball Club, who uttered the words, while sitting in his office with a pile of papers before him on his desk. Mr. Spalding then went on to say that when the season opened he suspected that the Brotherhood would furnish the new spapers with false footings of the attendance at their games, and in order to make sure of the facts he employed men to stand at the gates with patent counters and keep a complete record, showing the actual number of people at each game. According to Mr. Spalding's statistics the figures given to the newspapers were all the way from 50 to 75 per cent. in excess of the actual attendance. This rule applied to many weeks preceding the last Saturday week. But at this date the newspaper excess over the actual attendance took a turn upwards of sufficient altitude to take one's

"If the figures they gave out are accurate they might have been clearing expenses last week, but not much more at that."
"But you swelled your own figures a bit."

said the reporter.

"Yes, yes; I don't deny that I did, and I never made any pretense to deny it. Brown said he could swell them 100 per cent. or so, but his conscience has been smiting him lately and he can't be induced to do it any more. The whole thing is a farce, anyhow. But we—the League—readily admit that we are in the soup and are losing money hand over fist. They, on the contrary, claim to be making money, and I don't propose to sit by and see them do it. When they say they are making money they tell an untruth, and they know it. The fact of the matter is they are rotting as fast as nature will let them, and nothing can save them."

President Addison of the Chicago Broth President Addison, of the Chicago Brotherhood club, could not be found to-night. George Munson, the business manager, in an interview to-night, had the following to say bearing on a published interview with Spaulding:

"Within the past few days great stress has been made in certain quarters to estabhish and fortify the belief that the League lish and fortify the belief that the League clubs have been outdrawing the Brother-hood in the patronage accorded each organization. Every possible means by the League have been resorted to in the effort to hoodwink the public. Falsification of figures, as admitted by Mr. Spalding, is a mere bagatelle, evidently, in their process of manipulation. An attendance of 500 to 800 admissions becomes swollen to ridiculous proportions appearing in publication. diculous proportions, appearing in publica-tion figurative farces. A favorite League method is to make a 'free show' of the business. Passes are more plentiful than water. Passes for one game, two gamesin fact, for every game of each week, are placed in barber-shops, saloons and other public places, where they are given without the asking." Munson, however, did not deny that the Brotherhood figures had been padded.

Corrigan Becoming a Nuisance.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—Corporation Counsel Hutchinson, in an interview to-day, admitted that Mayor Cregier and himself have under consideration the advisability of forfeiting the license under which Ed Corrigan runs the West-side race-track. Incidental to the war between two rival factions of gamblers Corrigan has been harassing the Mayor to such an extent that the latter has lost patience and is now apparently ready to go almost any length "to get even."
